An affirmation is a declaration or a statement of proclamation that maintains that something is true in its completed state.

Reminding ourselves daily that we are brave, accepted, and loved gives us courage to be exactly that—fearless, discerning, confident, and wise.

“People are usually rewarded in public for what they CONSISTENTLY do in private. Professional athletes, musicians, Olympic gold medalists are all up EARLY in the dark hours of the morning doing what makes them great--without applause. Determine to develop a 'doing hard things privately' mindset. The reward and applause will come later. And with those private victories, many open doors.”---
