

Jenecia Kissoon – BIO

Jenecia Kissoon is originally from Guyana, South America and has been living in Georgia for the last five years. Being the eldest of five, Jenecia developed a love for working with children quite early. She has a passion for music and enjoys singing, playing guitar and piano, dancing, calligraphy, and every activity that involves creativity and expression. From a young age, Jenecia has volunteered at church assisting with Sunday school, babysitting and providing quality childcare.

Jenecia has also been a part of the dance ministry at her current church, Free Chapel, though she has been dancing since she was only six years of age. Jenecia is a Collins Hill High School graduate, currently attending Free Chapel College where she is studying music. While attending Collins Hill High school, Jenecia was part of the chorus program, which increased her love and passion for music. Her hope is to one day travel often as a missionary teacher to teach music, language arts and the Bible to children. Jenecia loves to see people, especially children, discover their gifts and use them for God's glory.
